Dear [Redacted]

Subject: Visit of Head BBC Monitoring Service

As directed in your 11 April letter, reservations have been made for Mr. Campbell at the Santa Rosa Hotel for the night of 2 May.

Further, plans have been made for a little supper party at our house that evening at which Mr. Campbell can meet and talk informally with our editors and their wives. So I think we are all set.

You mention the chance that Mr. Campbell may wish to return to San Francisco Friday evening. If he would prefer that, I surely do not wish to put any pressure on him about the supper business.

If you should happen to think of this admittedly minor point while he is in Washington, I should appreciate your mentioning my invitation and ascertaining whether or not he will plan to be here overnight. If I could know a bit ahead, it would make the going easier at home.

If this request means too much bother over too small a thing, please disregard it.

In addition, I should be happy to meet Mr. Campbell in San Francisco at any place and time he wishes to designate in order to bring him up to Santa Rosa.

Sincerely,

[Redacted Signature]
